HISTORY OF THE UNIVERSITY

Claremont Lincoln University traces its inception to March 2008 when the Board of Trustees at Claremont School of Theology voted to embark on an ambitious plan to incubate a new interreligious graduate school. The innovative institution would invite leaders, scholars, and practitioners of the world’s great religious traditions to engage in dialogic education to decrease suspicion and foster collaboration in order to more effectively work toward positive social change. After over two years of planning, Claremont Lincoln University launched on May 16, 2011 with classes beginning the following fall.

In June 2013—only two years after its founding—Claremont Lincoln received Candidacy status from its regional accrediting body, the WASC Senior College and University Commission (WSCUC), which set it on a pathway to independence from its parent institution. In early 2014, Claremont Lincoln requested from WSCUC and was granted an independent accreditation process to continue its path toward initial accreditation. As part of this process, Claremont Lincoln assumed governance of its own educational programs and began charting a new path forward as a free-standing institution. In March of 2016, Claremont Lincoln University received initial accreditation from WSCUC.

Today, Claremont Lincoln is expanding on its original vision to assemble diverse leaders, scholars, and practitioners from across the social sectors to collaborate on our most persistent problems through three unique Master of Arts degree programs and various certificate offerings. The original interreligious focus is thriving at the University, through the newly designed M.A. in Interfaith Action and certificates in Interfaith Action and Navigating Interfaith. Another new degree, the M.A. in Social Impact, is designed to attract emerging leaders from the social sector who want to conceive, design, and implement more effective initiatives for social change. The pre-existing M.A. in Ethical Leadership, designed by faculty from the original consortium, continues to educate experienced professionals in a variety of sectors to be more ethical, effective leaders in their organizations. Students from each of these degree programs take a sequence of core classes, named the Claremont Core®, together in order to learn about and from those working in other professional and social sectors. As a result, Claremont Lincoln graduates and certificate completers will be more knowledgeable about and able to work more effectively with leaders across the social sectors – non-profit, corporate, religious, civil – toward shared understandings for positive social change.

Claremont Lincoln’s mission is to educate learners in new ways of understanding. It is a new kind of university that brings people of diverse cultural, religious, and ideological backgrounds together so that all can flourish in this interconnected age. This is the transformative vision for Claremont Lincoln University, which we offer as a spark of optimism for the times in which we live: to be a postmodern, post-secular educational institution that seeks common threads amidst human diversity to better understand and more effectively address our perennial social problems. This is what we mean by “Engage in Positive Social Change.”

PURPOSE OF THE UNIVERSITY

Mission Statement

The mission of Claremont Lincoln University is to be a place where students learn how to treat others as they would like to be treated. Students learn the skills necessary to understand differences among religions, governments, other organizations, and individuals; how to respect those differences; and how to cooperate and collaborate with those of different viewpoints to resolve problems between them peacefully without violence. Our students will integrate self-knowledge with critical perspectives and contemporary skills to create sustainable social change – how to implement the Golden Rule. Claremont Lincoln University embeds the Golden Rule in the Claremont Core® which teaches the skills of mindfulness, dialogue, collaboration, and change.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on October 14, 2016)

Vision

The vision of Claremont Lincoln University is a world that lives by the Golden Rule; a world in which disputes between those that have conflicting views are addressed peacefully without violence.

Core Values

Compassion – Follow the Golden Rule: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Integrity – Be consistent and transparent in our values, actions, and outcomes.

Respect – Value and be mindful of other’s views and traditions.

Diligence – Have a commitment to continually improve and the strength to make a difference.

Individual Responsibility – Hold ourselves accountable; deliver on our promises.

Innovation – Strive to define new ways to make education better.

Loyalty – Support and allegiance to CLU.

Social Impact – Make the world a better place.

Service – Provide a quality educational experience to all who encounter CLU.

Institutional Learning Outcomes

By the end of a program, a learner will be able to:

1. Demonstrate personal, professional, and social agility in serving multiple perspectives through dialogue, collaboration, and decision-making.
2. Achieve constructive results in complex and dynamic situations.
3. Negotiate agreements for mutual gain and drive conflict resolution.
4. Apply key critical thinking skills, evaluate real-world problems, and implement successful solutions.
5. Practice the ethics of the Golden Rule as compassionate and transformative leaders.

OVERVIEW OF ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Claremont Lincoln University offers the following degree programs. For details, please refer to degree program requirements later in this catalog.

Master of Arts in Ethical Leadership

The M.A. in Ethical Leadership prepares a wide array of professionals across vocational sectors to integrate personal awareness and professional proficiencies in the areas of leadership, ethics, and ethical decision-making. Guided by the Golden Rule, the mission is to equip individuals to be more effective, ethical leaders in their organization and in society, with the knowledge and consciousness of our interconnected global realities.

Master of Arts in Interfaith Action

The M.A. in Interfaith Action is intended for leaders in faith-based organizations, religious communities, and other public arenas in which religious multiplicity can simultaneously be a source of conflict and a rich resource for positive change. The degree will equip such leaders for deeper understanding and more effective engagement for individual transformation, effective organizational leadership and positive social change.

Master of Arts in Social Impact

The M.A. in Social Impact teaches the capacities needed for mindful leaders—particularly, though not exclusively in the social and civic sectors—to envision, implement, and adapt efforts that generate positive and sustainable impact within and/or beyond their organizations and communities.

ADMINISTRATIVE CAMPUS

The Administrative Campus of Claremont Lincoln University is located 35 miles east of Los Angeles, in Claremont, California. The city of Claremont is situated at the eastern edge of Los Angeles County near the geographic region known as the Inland Empire (comprised of Riverside and San Bernardino Counties), a growing region characterized by an increasingly ethnically, economically, and religiously diverse population. Known as “the City of Trees and Ph.Ds.,” the city is home to the Claremont Colleges, an educational consortium that consists of two graduate and five undergraduate schools. This unique educational consortium attracts scholars, practitioners, and artists from around the world; about 5,200 students and 500 faculty members inhabit this town of 35,000 people.

EDUCATIONAL COMMUNITY & OPPORTUNITIES

It is difficult to imagine a more diverse, more exploratory place than Southern California. Here, hundreds of cultures, religions, and languages exist side by side. Southern California is a microcosm of today’s diverse world that is already spreading across North America. The Claremont Lincoln educational community brings together partners from these diverse backgrounds and traditions for dialogue, collaboration, and the shared mission to teach, learn, and serve. The Claremont Lincoln community provides an opportunity for practical leadership that reflects the world in which we live.

Gathering Weekends

Twice a year at the beginning of the Fall and Spring academic terms, CLU convenes a face-to-face event that brings together students, faculty, key constituencies, and friends of the university for an intentional time of networking, socializing, teaching, and learning. The Gathering Weekend typically includes orientation for incoming students, faculty and administration introductions, The Exchange academic and social workshops, and a social networking mixer. Students from all programs will have the opportunity to interact with each other, their instructors and support staff to create a connectedness and personal bond to the university community.

The Exchange

As part of the Gathering Weekend, the University convenes The Exchange, which are face-to-face events that bring together students and faculty for an intentional time of teaching, learning, and sharing. Each event includes opportunities for intellectual and personal development, and community-wide events that feature speakers, panels, discussion forums, and co-curricular activities. An important part of The Exchange is the interaction students have with their instructors, to dialogue and collaborate in idea sharing, and to discuss co-curricular activities and action research projects.

Commencement

Once a year, prior to the start of the April term, the Spring Gathering Weekend will include an annual celebration of all graduates who have completed their degrees throughout the preceding academic year.

Spotlight Gala and Lincoln Awards

The CLU Spotlight Gala is an end of year fundraising event that highlights the accomplishments of our students, graduates, and anyone working for positive social change in our communities and beyond.

The Lincoln Awards are celebratory acknowledgements of people and/or organizations who are doing great work in the named areas of the CLU graduate programs. Thus, there is the Lincoln Award in Social Impact, Ethical Leadership and Interfaith Action. The Lincoln Awards also honors visionaries and activists who have made a profoundly positive and lasting impact in the communities and who embody the Golden Rule.

OFFICE OF STUDENT SERVICES

The Office of Student Services provides support to matriculated students in the following areas:

New Student Orientation: Students learn more about the structure of their academic program, university policies such as copyright, use of technology, and student rights under FERPA, as well as what to expect in an online learning platform and how to navigate the student portal, the Learning Management System and access the Library.

Academic Advisement: students receive counsel on degree planning, course registration, compliance with university policies, and making the most of resources.

Registrar Services: students request transcripts, course withdrawal and transfer, assistance in registration, and resolving holds.

Disability Services: to aid students in the process of requesting accommodations and liaising with appropriate faculty to put reasonable accommodations into place.

Student Billing: available online with additional assistance by Student Services regarding payments or invoices.

ALUMNI RESOURCES

The first alumni of Claremont Lincoln walked across the stage on May 21, 2013. They were the first of many others who will become part of the Claremont Lincoln Alumni Association. All of those who have completed 30 units or more are considered members of the Claremont Lincoln Alumni Association. Graduates may be invited to serve as part of the Alumni Association to advise the administration, plan activities, and support scholarships for current students.

The Alumni Relations Office coordinates the resources of the University in order to meet the ongoing educational and professional needs of alumni. All alumni are invited to contact the office at any time for assistance or more information.

LIBRARY SERVICES

Library services for Claremont Lincoln are available entirely online through the University's website utilizing a discovery service called WorldCat Discovery (WCD). Claremont Lincoln students have access to a wide array of electronic books, periodicals, and other resources by searching WCD for quick results of all databases or visiting CLU's A-Z Database and choosing which database they would like to search. Students also have access to Interlibrary Loan which can provide them access to articles outside of the CLU collection. Students are provided with orientation on using the library via research guides and online tutorial videos and have access to reference services to assist with research.

TECHNICAL SUPPORT

Technical Support is available 24/7 by phone, email and online chat to all learners and instructors for issues concerning the Learning Management System (Instructure Canvas).

- Phone: (844) 912-1727
- Email: support@instructure.com
- <https://cases.canvaslms.com/apex/liveagentchat>

Claremont Lincoln University email support is available through Microsoft directly through the Office 365 portal.

Claremont Lincoln University help desk is available to resolve most problems over the phone or through remote support computer access. The help desk is available via email at support@claremontlincoln.edu. Support cases are responded to within one business day. If a problem requires more advanced diagnostics and troubleshooting, requests are escalated to engineers available Monday through Friday, 8:30 AM to 5 PM PST.

All relevant technical contact information is also available on the CLU Website.

DISABILITY SERVICES

In compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the implementing regulations 34 CFR part 104 (barring discrimination on the basis of disability), and the Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990 and the implementing regulations in 29 CFR part 1630 (1992), Claremont Lincoln University is committed to providing students with disabilities full access to its programs, events and facilities.

The Office of Student Services oversees the coordination of services for students with disabilities. To benefit from the protection of ADA and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, students must self-disclose a disability to the Office of Student Services and request an accommodation. The University requires the student to provide the Office of Student Services medical documentation that verifies the existence of the disability, the student's current condition, and need for an accommodation. Subsequently, a member of the Office of Student Services confers directly with the student requesting access for thorough accommodation. A student's disability has no bearing whatsoever on a student's acceptance or non-acceptance to any of Claremont Lincoln's degree programs.

Potential or current students with a disability seeking an accommodation may contact the Office of Student Services, which will provide answers to common questions about disability services or the accommodations process and is responsive to all situations.

Claremont Lincoln University has an obligation to maintain confidentiality regarding a student's disability. Any information collected is solely for the student's benefit. It is maintained separately from the student's university record and housed within secure files with access limited to the Office of Student Services. An accommodated student will be informed as to what information is being provided to the faculty or staff regarding the request. Except where permitted by applicable law, disability information will not be shared with non-Claremont Lincoln University employees without the student's express written permission.

ADMISSION

Commitment to Inclusion

Claremont Lincoln University admits qualified students of any race, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, age, disability, religious tradition, sexual orientation, and gender identity to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the University. Admission is dependent upon the strength of the applicant's academic record, personal qualifications, professional goals, experience, and a demonstrated commitment to learning in a diverse community. Additionally, Claremont Lincoln welcomes applications from non-immigrant aliens and students outside the U.S. Consistent with its obligations under the law, Claremont Lincoln University prohibits unlawful discrimination on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, age, disability, religion, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or any other characteristic protected by applicable law in the administration of the University's programs and activities. Claremont Lincoln University also prohibits unlawful harassment of any kind.

Eligibility Criteria

To be considered for admission to the Master of Arts (M.A.) programs, prospective students must demonstrate the following requirements.

- 1) Bachelor's degree: Completion of a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution. Graduates of foreign universities must submit an official course-by-course international transcript evaluation from one of the approved credential evaluation service agencies to the Office of Admission. Requests for an international transcript evaluation waiver are considered on an individual basis.
- 2) Cumulative Grade Point Average: A minimum undergraduate grade point average of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale is preferred.

- 3) English Proficiency: Graduates of foreign universities at which English is not the primary language must submit valid, official, internet based (iBT) Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) scores. Computer based test (CBT) scores will only be accepted if applicant lives in a country that does not offer the iBT. Requests for a TOEFL waiver are considered on an individual basis.

Application Process and Materials

Individuals apply for admission to a specific degree program by submitting the online application, paying the nonrefundable application fee, and providing the necessary supporting documentation. Individuals who satisfy these requirements by the Thursday prior to the term start will be considered for admission for the upcoming term. Applications received or files completed after noon on the Friday immediately preceding the term will be considered only if space is available.

The application review process is holistic in nature and therefore ensures that each component of the application is evaluated and used in making the admission decision. Acceptance depends not only on individual qualifications but also on the number of available openings in specific degree programs in any given term. Applicants are admitted to a specific degree program and will be notified in writing after a decision has been reached.

Complete Applications include:

Application: available online at www.claremontlincoln.edu

Application Fee (non-refundable): $50 fee paid online

Official Transcript(s): Official, sealed or electronic, transcripts from the Bachelor Degree granting institution are required. Applicants may submit unofficial transcripts for admission review, but official transcripts must be submitted by the end of the first term. CLU reserves the right to request transcripts from other institutions attended.

Letter of Recommendation: One letter of recommendation from an individual who can speak to the applicant's capacity for study at the graduate level and fit for the program.

TOEFL iBT Scores: Graduates of foreign universities at which English is not the primary language must submit valid, official, internet based (iBT) Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) scores. Computer based test (CBT) scores will only be accepted if applicant lives in a country that does not offer the iBT. Requests for a TOEFL waiver are considered on an individual basis.

The University does not retain application materials beyond three years and requires new materials from applicants who exceed that timeframe. Please be aware that all application materials become the property of Claremont Lincoln University and will not be returned to the applicant nor released to a third party (e.g., educational institution).

Electronic copies of supporting documentation can be emailed to Admission@ClaremontLincoln.edu. Hard copies of supporting documentation can be mailed to:

Claremont Lincoln University
Attn: Office of Admission
250 West First Ave. (Suite 330)
Claremont, CA 91711

Admitted Students

Enrollment Confirmation Deposit: In order to reserve a seat in a term, newly admitted students submit a signed confirmation form and nonrefundable deposit. Upon enrollment, this deposit will be applied to the student's account.

Deferral of Admission: Students may request to defer admission for up to one year. A deferral request is not automatically granted and is to be made in writing and sent to the Office of Admission for review.

Admission After Dismissal or Withdrawal: Former Claremont Lincoln University degree candidates may request reinstatement if no more than eight years have elapsed since withdrawal or dismissal. If dismissal occurred, an application for readmission may be considered in exceptional cases only when accompanied by evidence of a significant change relative to the former issue. Students who withdraw and notified the University of their intentions to withdraw may reapply by following current application process instructions and requirements. Students who have been dismissed because of unsatisfactory academic progress will not be considered for readmission for at least one academic year.

Changing Degree Programs: A student who elects to transfer between degree programs within Claremont Lincoln University needs to complete a Change of Degree Program form, available from the Office of Student Services. An application to change degrees will be evaluated and approved by the Dean for the intended program of study. Please be aware that additional coursework may be required.

Financing Graduate Study

The investment associated with pursuing graduate education is often significant. Claremont Lincoln University has made the strategic decision to set tuition that ensures learning opportunities are accessible to the end of helping students avoid unnecessary debt. Students interested in outside funding opportunities such as employer-based tuition assistance and outside scholarships are encouraged to contact the Offices of Admission or the Office of Student Services for guidance.

Claremont Lincoln University offers a variety of scholarship opportunities to assist our students in financing their education. Applicants are encouraged to consult the website for up-to-date scholarship information and requirements.

Claremont Lincoln University has also been approved to participate in educational assistance programs offered by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the U.S. Department of Defense (DOD). Please see the Veterans Information Bulletin for all policies pertaining to students utilizing these benefit programs.

Some students require access to low interest student loan programs. CLU participates in the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Student Loan Program to eligible students. Refer to the section titled Financial Aid for more information.

TUITION AND FEES 2017-2018

Tuition

Master of Arts (M.A.) $500 per unit

Application and Admission Fees

Application for Admission $50
Confirmation Deposit $200

Payment Policy for Tuition and Fees

One third (1/3) of the term's total tuition charge is payable by the first day of class each term. The student's balance is due by the last day of the term. A monthly payment plan can also be established.

Students have several payment options. Payments may be made by check or online with a credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express). Documentation of personal loans or outside scholarships can be used to comply with the tuition payment policy. Students should consult the Office of Student Services for details.

Delinquent Accounts

Students whose accounts are not paid in full are not eligible to register for the next term or to receive transcripts, grades, enrollment verifications, or diplomas. In the event that Claremont Lincoln University deems it necessary to employ a collections agent or attorney to enforce payment, the student will be responsible for all reasonable collections costs and attorney's fees.

Claremont Lincoln University Refund Policy

Degree-seeking students who withdraw or fail to complete the period of enrollment may receive a refund. Any student withdrawing from the University for medical reasons is required to submit a written statement from his or her medical doctor when requesting a refund.

Students may receive a full refund or no refund of tuition depending on the date the course was dropped, as per the schedule below:

100% refund through the tenth calendar day of the term
0% refund after the tenth calendar day of the term

No refund will be given if a student drops or withdraws from classes after the tenth day of class in a given term.

Non-Degree Payment and Refund Policy

The total tuition charge for the term is payable before the first day of class each term. Non-degree students who have not paid the balance in full will be dropped from their course(s) on the day the term starts.

Students have several payment options. Payments may be made by check or online with a credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express). Non-degree students are not eligible for Financial Aid.

Non-degree students may receive a full refund, a partial refund, or no refund of tuition depending on the date the course was dropped, as per the schedule below:

100% refund through the tenth calendar day of the term

0% refund after the tenth calendar day of the term

No refund will be given if a student drops or withdraws from classes after the tenth day of class in a given term.

ACADEMIC POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Inclusive Language

Effective dialogue and collaboration requires postures of inclusion and respect in routine communication. Therefore, inclusive language is strongly encouraged of all members of the University community and is considered the standard for written work, class discussion, and common discourse. For example, students and faculty are encouraged to avoid language that:

- refers to others in terms that are not solely masculine (e.g. “mankind” vs. “humankind” or “humanity”)
- equates color with moral judgment (e.g. equating “black” with “bad”, “white” with “good”)
- equates disabilities with negative traits (e.g. “paralyzed with fear,” “falling on deaf ears,” “turning a blind eye”).

Academic Honesty

All students are expected to adhere to basic standards of academic honesty and integrity. All work submitted is expected to be the student’s own thought and expression unless another source is acknowledged and appropriately referenced. Violation of academic honesty is regarded as an extremely serious offense. Discovery of such a violation may result in an “F” grade for the course, and possible termination as a student at the University, or revocation of a degree previously granted. In any case, members of the Teaching Faculty are obligated to report all apparent violations of academic honesty to the Dean.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is literary theft, or offering the words or ideas of another as if they were one's own, with no acknowledgment of the source. Whenever the ideas or words used are taken from a source, this source must be given credit. This applies not only to direct quotations, but also to indirect quotations (in which the original statement is paraphrased). Sources that must be given credit include published books, journals, magazines, newspapers, etc., as well as other types of media (such as Internet sources, film, video, television, radio, audio recordings, and other electronic resources, as well as lectures and the work of other students). The principle also holds true for less direct borrowings, if the ideas in question are distinctive to the source as opposed to being considered common currency. (This is often a matter of judgment; when in doubt, students are advised to err on the side of giving too many citations, rather than too few.) The prohibition of plagiarism applies to dissertations, theses, projects, term papers, class reports, take-home examinations, and any other work (whether in writing or in another media for communicating ideas) intended to fulfill requirements for a class or degree program.

The University recognizes that plagiarism is culturally defined. Consequently, students not experienced in the U.S. educational system may be asked to rewrite plagiarized work without the assumption of dishonest intent on the student's part. Nevertheless, under no circumstances is plagiarized work acceptable, and all students are expected to learn what constitutes plagiarism in the U.S. educational context.

Cheating involves the use of any kind of assistance (e.g., written, oral, aural, or visual) that has not been specifically authorized. Students are not to receive assistance from others with their coursework unless it has been clearly specified that a certain form of assistance is permissible (e.g., in the preparation for, as distinct from the actual writing of, the examination), or that an assignment is to be a collaborative effort.

Consequences: If it is determined that cheating or academic dishonesty has taken place, the instructor will report the student's name to the Dean.

A letter regarding the academic dishonesty will be issued by the Dean. It will be placed in the student's official file in the Office of Student Services and a copy will be sent to the student. The Dean is responsible for administering all penalties.

Appeal Process: Any appeal must be made in writing to the Academic Leadership Team (ALT) within two weeks of notification. The decision of ALT is final. If the instructor involved is currently serving on ALT, the Dean will appoint another faculty person to replace the instructor involved for the discussion and vote on the appeal. The Dean may be present during ALT's deliberations as an ex-officio member.

Appeals for Exceptions to Academic Policies

Students are expected to be aware of and abide by the faculty's standing rules and policies. The Academic Catalog provides the necessary information. If a student can demonstrate a compelling reason for special consideration, s/he may appeal to the Deans or Academic Leadership Team. Students' failure to inform themselves of policies, procedures, deadlines, and requirements for their degree programs is not considered a compelling reason for special consideration.

Policy on Student Evaluation of Courses and Faculty

At the end of each course, students complete a Course Evaluation. Using this process, students assess how well the course helped them to achieve the Student Learning Outcomes for the class, and how well the course addressed the broader Institutional Learning Outcomes. Students also evaluate the class content and organization, as well as the instructor’s knowledge of course material, accessibility to students, and teaching skills.

REGISTRATION AND ADVISING

Advisement

Academic Advising is provided by the Office of Student Services to guide students through the registration process, understand degree audits, track satisfactory academic progress, and provide Registrar services. Faculty in the Master of Arts programs are available as informal mentors and advisors for Capstone Action Projects.

Registration Periods

Continuing students pre-register online beginning 3 weeks prior to the upcoming term. New students register during orientation or in coordination with the Office of Student Services.

Registration Procedure

- Discuss course selections with their academic advisor and clear any holds well in advance of the registration period.
- Select courses from the class schedule and pre-register online via the student portal during the designated time period.
- Secure other faculty permissions as may be required. Approval to register for the Capstone Action Project can be obtained by the Dean.

Student Account Holds

A hold may be placed on a student account in certain circumstances which restricts course registration, issuance of transcripts & grade cards, or both.

Billing Non-Payment – students who show a balance on the last day of the term will have a hold preventing course registration and issuance of transcripts & grade cards.

Academic Standing – students on Academic Probation will have a hold preventing course registration until receiving approval from the Dean to register for the subsequent term.

Missing Documents – new students who have not submitted outstanding official transcripts to complete their admission by the end of the first term will have a hold preventing course registration and issuance of transcripts & grade cards.

Withdrawn – students who have withdrawn from the University or who have received an Administrative Withdrawal will receive a hold preventing registration until completing requirements to re-enroll in the University.

Capstone Progress – students who have failed to make sufficient progress towards the Capstone Action Project will receive a hold preventing course registration until receiving approval by the Dean of Capstone Students.

Course Numbering System

Each course in the curriculum is indicated by its alphanumeric code. The first three letters indicate a course is part of the Claremont Core (MCC) or designate the course to a specific program (MEL, MIA, MSI). The course number is four digits. The first digit of '5' indicates a Master's level course, the second digit indicates the number of course credits, and the final two digits identify the specific course. The Course Type follows the Course Number and identifies the delivery mode of the course, for example 'A' equals Online.

Grading Policies

The University grades on a four-point system as follows:

A = 4.0	93-100%
A- = 3.7	90-92%
B+ = 3.3	87-89%
B = 3.0	83-86%
B- = 2.7	80-82%
C+ = 2.3	77-79%
C = 2.0	73-76%
C- = 1.7	70-72%
D+ = 1.3	67-69%
D = 1.0	63-66%
D- = 0.7	60-62%
F = 0.0	0-59%

Other grade field codes that carry no grade points are:

W	Student withdrawal from a course
UW	Unofficial withdrawal
I	Incomplete Grade requested by student

Transfer Credit

Because the Master of Arts degree requires only 30 units of graduate credit and offers a unique set of courses, credits earned for other courses taken at Claremont Lincoln University or other institutions do not transfer into the program.

Waiver of Required Courses

Similarly, a student may not petition the Registrar for waiver of a required course, based on previously completed similar course work at another accredited institution.

Electives

Claremont Lincoln students may enroll in CLU elective courses relevant for achieving their professional and personal goals. Some required program degree courses may be substituted by CLU elective courses within the student's program of study. Students may be permitted to enroll in up to two elective courses for a total of 6 units in consultation with the Registrar or Dean. See the section on Degree Program Requirements for a full listing of program requirements. Enrollment in elective courses in fulfillment of degree program requirements does not alter the residency requirement of completing 100 percent of credits through Claremont Lincoln University.

Residency Requirements

Academic “residency” does not refer to a requirement for on-campus housing; rather, it is a term used that refers to the conditions by which students are required to progress toward degree completion. In order to receive a degree, 100 percent of the credits required must be completed through Claremont Lincoln University by taking the designated Core and Program classes.

Academic Credit and Minimum Grade Requirements

Courses in the Master of Arts can only be taken for academic credit. Students may not register for these courses as an auditor or for Continuing Education Units. All courses in the program are required for graduation, and must be taken for a letter grade. In the M.A. program, course grades lower than a C (2.0) will not count toward the degree and this course will need to be repeated. Students may not earn credit more than once for the same course, and a course can only be repeated one time.

Capstone Lab

All students are enrolled in the non-credit, required, Capstone Lab class within the Learning Management System. Participation in the Lab is instrumental in preparing students for the final term when the Capstone Action Project is implemented and the Final Project Report is produced. Work in the Lab is prompted by end-of-term coursework in each of the Core™ classes and will comprise a portion of the final grade for the Capstone class in a student’s final term. Students should complete all Capstone Lab assignments by their designated due date. Students who fail to complete a Lab assignment on time will have one term to catch up. Failure to catch up by the end of the subsequent term and achieve a passing grade on the assignment will result in a hold preventing future registration until the student is current on all Capstone Lab assignments and receives approval to continue from the Dean of Capstone Studies.

Capstone Completion Enrollment

Current M.A. students who have not completed their Capstone Action Project within the final term of study may be eligible to be enrolled for up to one additional term in Capstone Completion Enrollment (CCE) status. This status does not carry graduate credit. CCE status was established to help students finish the M.A. program by allowing them to remain in active status while completing CAP requirements.

To be eligible for CCE status, students must have made substantial progress on the CAP (80% complete) and must move directly into CCE status when their final term ends. Students may apply for this status during their final term of study, and must be approved by the Dean of Capstone Studies and the Office of Student Services.

Students in CCE status remain active graduate students, with continued access to University resources. A set cost tuition fee of $500 will be charged. CCE status ends on the last day of class for the subsequent term. If degree program requirements have been met, the graduation date will reflect the last day of the term during which the student held CCE status.

Students in CCE status are not eligible for Federal Financial Aid.

Late Policy

It is expected that students will complete course assignments on time. If a student knows ahead of time that he/she will be late or will miss an assignment, he/she must contact the instructor in advance to allow sufficient time to discuss an alternative schedule. If an emergency arises that prevents him/her from completing the assignment on time, the student must contact the instructor as soon as possible. The instructor will review late requests and emergency situations on a case by case basis and will make decisions accordingly.

Questions concerning this policy and its interpretation should be directed to the Academic Leadership Team and Office of Student Services.

Online Expectations

The Master of Arts programs at CLU require students to meet certain technology requirements before beginning the program. Every learning environment expects certain aptitudes, whether these include managing deadlines, using research resources, or negotiating transportation. Online learning expects students are comfortable with computer technology. You do not have to be a computer expert to succeed in online learning, but you do need to know the standard conventions associated with modern computer use.

Students taking courses online are responsible for providing their own equipment for accessing course materials. This equipment includes a computer fewer than two years old; a high-speed Internet connection; a working email address; a word-processing program able to produce and open .doc, .docx, and .pdf files; and a sound card with speakers (for courses requiring sound). Students may check the latest requirements posted within the Learning Management System and on the syllabus of each course.

Independent Study

Because the degrees are based upon a curriculum with a set rotation of required courses, independent studies cannot be arranged with faculty or used to fulfill the credit requirements of the degree.

Full-Time and Part-Time Enrollment

During a term, 6 units constitutes full-time enrollment, and 3 units constitutes half-time enrollment. In extraordinary cases, students may enroll in 3 classes in one term with permission from the Dean.

Non-Degree Enrollment

Non-degree seeking students may take courses at CLU without formal admission and enrollment in one of our degree programs. Individuals wishing to take classes for personal or professional growth may enroll after receiving approval from the appropriate Dean.

Some credits taken in Non-Degree Enrollment status may be applied to an M.A. program if the student later becomes a matriculated CLU student. The limit of credits that may be applied to a CLU degree is 6 credits. To apply for Non-Degree Enrollment, the non-degree application form must be completed online, along with supporting materials. Approval for non-degree status does not guarantee future admission to a degree program or enrollment in any specific course.

Students wishing to transfer CLU credits to another school should consult that institution to find out if graduate credits taken at CLU will transfer into a degree program at their institution.

Non-degree seeking students are bound by the same rules and academic standards as matriculated students and do not qualify for Financial Aid from CLU.

Matriculated students have preference for course enrollment and non-degree students are able to register on a space-available basis.

Repeated Course Policy

Students are allowed to repeat a course once. Students may have to repeat a class for several reasons:

- They received a grade lower than a “C” in a required master’s-level class.
- They had an Incomplete for the class and did not submit their work by the deadline and the Incomplete reverted to a grade of “F,” or the student stopped going to class but did not officially withdraw from the class and received a “UW” (Unofficial Withdrawal) on their transcript.

Although the original grade will remain on the permanent record, only the most recent grade will be considered in computing the cumulative grade point average (GPA). The additional hours of credit for repeated courses will not be counted toward a degree or the total number of credits completed.

Minimum Grade Point Average for Graduation

The minimum cumulative grade point average required for graduation from the M.A. programs is 3.0.

Grade Reporting Policy

All grades must be submitted to the Director of Student Services four days after the last day of a term and will post to the Student Portal the Friday following the term end. If the instructor grants an Incomplete, the grade submitted will be recorded as an “I”. If not, the grade will be based on work that was completed for the course.

Change of Grade

Once a grade is assigned for a course, no change of grade is possible on the basis of additional work. Faculty may change a grade in a case of a recording error or grade miscalculation, or in exceptional circumstances, on the basis of a reevaluation of work already completed if this change is made within two months of the time the grade was assigned. Students with grade disputes should contact the Dean.

Adding a Course

Students may add a course up until the first day of the term.

Dropping and Withdrawal from a Course

Students may drop a course up until the end of the second week of classes through the student portal. Students may receive a full refund or no refund of tuition depending on the date the course was dropped, as per the schedule below:

100% refund through the tenth calendar day of the term

0% refund after the tenth calendar day of the term

Students may withdraw during weeks 3-7 of a term by completing a Withdrawal form provided by the Office of Student Services. A Withdrawal will show as “W” on the student’s transcript but will not impact the GPA.

To not attend or stop attending a course does not constitute a drop or withdrawal. Students who do not officially drop or withdraw from a course in which they are enrolled but not attending will receive a non-passing grade of “UW” (Unofficial Withdrawal) in that course. This action will be noted on the transcript and will count the same as a grade of “F” in the student’s cumulative grade point average. Students who stop attending after week 7 of the term will receive the grade earned up until their unofficial withdrawal. Students with a pattern of incomplete or dropped courses will be subject to termination.

Incompletes

Taking an Incomplete in a class can have academic ramifications. Patterns of Incompletes can also result in a student being placed on academic probation. Therefore, Incompletes will be granted only when there are extenuating circumstances, such as illness, death in one’s family, etc., and students are making satisfactory progress in the course.

The granting of an Incomplete is for emergency situations and is not automatic. An incomplete is requested by the student, but is granted at the discretion of the professor. Incompletes are not granted merely for the convenience of the student who is concerned about his or her workload. To request an incomplete, the student will complete an Incomplete Grade Request form, then seek the permission and the signature of the instructor of the course, and return the form to the Office of Student Services by the last day of the term. An Incomplete may entail a grade reduction. Students should check this with the instructor at or before the time the Incomplete is requested.

All work for an incomplete must be submitted for a grade by the last week of classes of the following term. All Incomplete work will be submitted via email to the instructor, as well as the Office of Student Services who will record the date of its submission.

The faculty may require students to turn in work by an earlier date, but the faculty will be responsible for enforcing deadlines other than the one described above. If outstanding work is not submitted by the due date, the student's grade for the course will automatically be converted to a grade of F. Once a grade has been converted to a grade of F, it cannot be changed. Faculty are expected to turn in grades for Incompletes no later than two weeks after receiving the work from the Office of Student Services.

Waivers for Special Circumstances

When a grade of "Incomplete" has reverted to a grade of "F" because the student failed to submit the incomplete work by the deadline, the student may petition the Academic Leadership Team (ALT) to have the "F" revert back to an "Incomplete". ALT will only consider petitions that are related to medical conditions or death in the family.

In the case of an extenuating medical condition, all petition forms must be accompanied by the following documentation:

- A letter of explanation from the student to ALT as to why the student did not complete the work by the deadline, why the student did not submit a petition to extend the deadline, and why the student believes the problem that caused the initial Incomplete and subsequent deadlines to be missed will not recur.
- A letter from a physician or other certified medical professional attesting to the student's treatment under the medical professional's care during and/or after the period in which the student failed to meet the Incomplete deadline.
- Support for the petition from the instructor in the course.
- Support for the petition from the Office of Student Services.

If a student believes the University has erred in some way, the petition must be accompanied by a letter of explanation that describes and documents in what way(s) the University erred and the time frame involved, in relationship to the date when the Incomplete work was due.

Leave of Absence

Students may miss one term (i.e., not enroll in classes) for any reason without filing for a leave of absence. However, if a student misses two terms for reasons of physical or emotional health problems, military service, financial hardship, familial issues or other unexpected events, they must petition the Office of Student Services for a leave. Students receiving University scholarships may be subject to stricter terms of enrollment and should consult their award letter.

A request for a leave of absence must be made in writing. This request must include the date, reason for the student's request and the student's original signature. Because an approved leave of absence is dependent upon the school's reasonable expectation that the student will return from the leave, it is recommended that the student's petition include a timetable for return.

The University's decision to grant students' requests for leave will be given in writing. A student returning from a leave of absence must notify the Office of Student Services in writing prior to registering for classes. When returning, the student must complete the coursework that s/he began prior to the leave of absence.

Normally, a leave of absence is granted for a maximum of one term. The student may petition the Dean for an extension of one additional term. If after three terms the student does not return from the leave, the student will be withdrawn from the program and her/his record closed. To re-enter the program, the student must reapply through the Office of Admission.

Term 1 – The student may choose not to enroll at her/his own discretion.

Term 2 – The student must petition and receive approval from the Office of Student Services for a leave of absence.

Term 3 – The student must petition and receive approval from the Dean for an extension of the leave.

Term 4 – If the student does not return, s/he is withdrawn from the program and record closed. The student must reapply to enroll.

Students who do not follow the process outlined above and fail to enroll in subsequent terms will be administratively withdrawn with a hold placed on their account preventing registration.

Taking a leave of absence will impact a student's Title IV Federal Financial Aid, and students utilizing Financial Aid are encouraged to contact the Financial Aid Office.

Transcript Requests

Requests for official transcripts should be submitted in writing to the Office of Student Services and include the following: name, dates of attendance, address where the transcript is to be sent and signature. Transcript requests will not be honored if a student owes the University a balance.

Copies of transcripts contained in the student's admission file from other institutions should be requested directly from those institutions.

Credit/Unit Policy

Claremont Lincoln University's Credit Hour Policy is consistent with the U.S.

Department of Education's credit hour policy.

A credit hour is an amount of work that reasonably approximates (1) not less than a minimum of 1.25 hours of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of 2.5 hours out-of-class student work each week for a 10-week term; or (2) at least an equivalent amount of work as required above through other academic activities as established by Claremont Lincoln University leading to the award of credit hours. For example, in a 3 credit course students will expect a minimum of 3.75 hours of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of 7.5 hours out-of-class student work each week for a 10-week term.

Degree programs and courses undergo comprehensive annual assessments by an interactive assembly of Degree Deans, CLU Teaching Faculty, and external field practitioners and experts. Courses are developed to be consistent with master level student learning and time to degree completion. Credit hours for each course are evaluated to ensure that the hours are appropriate by:

- Clearly defining / refining Course Learning Outcomes which are achieved by course activities and the activities are appropriate in length, scale, and the time required to completion.
- Assuring that Course Learning Outcomes are aligned with Program Learning Outcomes and are met by course activities.
- Evaluating student achievement through a defined grading system.
- Monitoring student class participation through the CLU Student Information System.

Academic Probation

Students will be placed on academic probation if their cumulative grade point average drops below 3.0 in the M.A. programs.

In order to be removed from academic probation, students must develop a plan approved with the Dean to return to good academic standing and obtain a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.0 in the M.A. programs upon completion of the next enrolled term. A student who remains on academic probation for two consecutive terms may face dismissal. The Dean makes dismissal decisions.

Students on Academic Probation will be notified by the University and will need to obtain approval from the Dean in order to register for the subsequent term.

Participation Policy

Student participation will be assessed primarily through student interactions within the learning management system, usually in the form of discussion forums. Students who miss more than two weeks of activity during the term will miss the significant learning opportunities and will very likely result in a failing grade (see syllabus for expectations and accompanying grading rubric).

Review of Student Status

At the request of the Dean, the Academic Leadership Team is charged to consider whether (1) a student's enrollment may be discontinued; (2) a student may be given an institutionally-initiated Leave of Absence; or (3) a student's enrollment may be continued under specified conditions.

Withdrawal or Transfer

A student who wishes to transfer to another school or otherwise withdraw from enrollment must notify the Office of Student Services by turning in a completed Withdrawal Form signed by the Dean.

Statute of Limitations for Degree Completion

Students in the Master of Arts programs have up to 3 years (36 months) to complete the degree.

An approved leave of absence extends the time limit to complete the degree by an amount of time equal to the leave. Terms taken off at student discretion do not extend the statute of limitations for degree completion. A change of degree program does not extend the statute of limitations.

Graduation Applications

All students are required to submit a completed and signed graduation application to the Office of Student Services by week 5 of their second-to-last term. No student will be allowed to register for his or her final term without submitting a graduation application.

Commencement

Students are eligible to receive diplomas and walk in the graduation ceremony when they have completed all required coursework with a minimum 3.0 GPA, resolved all Incompletes for required courses, submitted the graduation application, paid any outstanding charges, and been approved to walk in the ceremony.

A student will be awarded a diploma with the graduation date for the term in which degree requirements, including submission of any supporting documents, have been met. Although course work may have been completed in a prior term, the degree will be awarded only for the term for which all academic and administrative requirements have been satisfied.

Commencement is held in the Spring. Students should consult the website for more information on the graduation ceremony, regalia rental fees, and diploma replacement costs.

FINANCIAL AID

At Claremont Lincoln University, we make it a priority to keep tuition at a level which we hope will allow students to complete their education without borrowing funds. While we are proud to offer scholarship opportunities and encourage the use of employer reimbursed tuition programs, we realize that some students require access to low interest student loan programs.

CLU offers the Federal Direct Loan to eligible students in our Master Degree programs and unlike the complex process of applying for financial aid at the undergraduate level, your application can be completed in a few easy steps. We also have seasoned Financial Aid team members who are available to discuss your own personal situation or walk you through the process so that you can quickly move towards starting your journey towards the completion of a Master's Degree at Claremont Lincoln University.

Eligibility for Federal Financial Aid Assistance

- Student must be a U.S. Citizen, permanent resident, or other eligible non-citizen.
- Student must be enrolled in a graduate program at least ½ time. 3 units per term is considered ½ time enrollment at Claremont Lincoln University.
- Student must have a valid Social Security number.
- Student must not owe a refund from any federal grant program or loan or be in default on any federal loan
- Students required to register with the Selective Service must have registered
- Student must make satisfactory academic progress towards degree completion

How to Apply for Federal Financial Aid

Step 1

Complete a FAFSA online at <https://www.fafsa.ed.gov>
(CLU school code is 042536)

Step 2

You will receive an award letter along with a Loan Request Form. To receive a Federal Direct Unsubsidized loan, students should complete the Loan Request Form indicating how much they would like to borrow. Completed forms may be faxed or scanned/mailed to the Financial Aid Office.

Email: financialaid@claremontlincoln.edu
Fax: (909) 339-3443

Step 3

Borrowers must complete a Master Promissory Note (MPN) and entrance counseling if the student is a first time borrower.

Please visit www.studentloans.gov to complete entrance counseling and the MPN.

Types of Aid

Scholarships

Claremont Lincoln offers a variety of scholarship opportunities to assist students in their pursuit of putting wisdom to work.

Visit <https://www.claremontlincoln.edu/admission/financial-aid/scholarships/> for more information.

Loans

CLU participates in the Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan Program. This loan is a low interest loan made available to eligible students in CLU Master Degree programs, to assist them with costs related to their education. The annual maximum Direct Unsubsidized loan is $20,500, however may be less depending upon your course load and enrollment period. The current interest rate for this loan is fixed at 6% for the 2017-2018 academic year. Repayment begins six months after the borrower graduates, leaves school or drops to less than half-time enrollment. Since the entire Direct Unsubsidized loan is unsubsidized, interest accrual begins once the loan is disbursed.

Student Budget

The 2017-2018 Cost of Attendance (COA) is used to calculate financial aid eligibility. Claremont Lincoln University utilizes annual cost of attendance figures provided by the College Board in conjunction with its own tuition costs. The COA for CLU students utilizes an average cost of tuition, books & supplies, transportation and living expenses.

2017-2018 Cost of Attendance (FT Student)

Tuition	$12,000
Books & Supplies	$650
Housing	$6,296
Transportation	$1,982
Personal & Misc.	$3,381
Loan Fees	$220
TOTAL	$24,529

Return of Title IV Funds

Return to Title IV Funds is a federally mandated policy that applies only to students who received federal financial aid and who fully withdraw, drop, or are dismissed prior to completing 60% of a term. The policy applies to all students who discontinue enrollment in all classes, on or after the first day of the term. Title IV financial aid funds are awarded under the assumption that a student will attend the institution for the entire period in which federal assistance is provided. When a student ceases academic attendance prior to the end of that period, the student may no longer be eligible for the full amount of federal funds that the student was originally scheduled to receive. Return to Title IV (R2T4) will be used to determine how much aid, if any, must be returned to Title IV programs. For Claremont Lincoln University, this would include any Federal Direct Unsubsidized loan funding.

The portion of financial aid to be returned is determined by the percentage of financial aid not earned by the student. The percentage of unearned aid is calculated using the following formula:

$$\% \text{ earned} = \# \text{ of days completed up to the withdrawal date} \div \text{total \# of calendar days in term}$$

Based on these federal guidelines, any student who receives federal financial aid and does not complete at least 60% of the term (6 weeks) would be responsible for repaying a portion of the aid they received. A student who remained enrolled beyond the 60% point is considered to have earned 100% of their financial aid.

The Return to Title IV Funds policy is separate from the university's refund policy. A student who withdraws from the university prior this 60% completion point may be required to return unearned federal aid and still owe the university for tuition and fees.

FINANCIAL AID SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS (SAP) POLICY

To be eligible for federal financial aid, graduate students are required by the U.S. Department of Education to maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward their degree objectives. CLU has established this SAP policy to ensure student success and accountability and to promote timely advancement toward degree objectives. SAP guidelines are based on reasonable expectations of academic progress towards a degree and are separate and distinct from the University's Academic Degree Requirements and Policies as stated in the catalogue.

Financial Aid Programs Subject to Financial Aid SAP Policy

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan Program

Definition of Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP)

At CLU, Satisfactory Academic Progress is defined by the following 3 criteria:

- 1) Meeting a minimum cumulative grade point average requirement (GPA).
- 2) Earning a minimum number of units for credit per semester (Pace of Progression).
- 3) Completing the degree objective within a maximum number of terms enrolled and a maximum number of units attempted (Maximum Time-Frame Allowance)

Students who do not meet one or more of the above criteria will be considered SAP ineligible for financial aid without and approved, written SAP appeal.

1. Grade Point Average Requirement:

Students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0.

The following grades are counted in your cumulative grade point average:

- A, B, C, D, F (+/-)
- UW (unofficial withdrawal)

2. Pace of Progression Requirement:

You must complete a minimum number of units each semester (pace) to ensure completion of the degree within the maximum time frame.

To calculate the Pace of Progression, divide the cumulative number of units you have successfully completed by the cumulative number of units you have attempted.

You are required to successfully complete a minimum of 67% of all attempted units to remain eligible for Federal financial aid.

3. Maximum Time-Frame Allowance

You must complete your degree objective within a specified amount of time. Federal regulations limit financial aid eligibility to 150% of the published length of the education program. The maximum timeframe is calculated by multiplying the minimum units required for the academic program by 150% to determine the maximum number of units. Students complete a Master's Degree at CLU that requires 30 units has a maximum timeframe of 45 units.

Monitoring of Satisfactory Academic Progress

The Financial Aid Office monitors grade point average, pace of progression, and the maximum time-frame allowance for all financial aid applicants. This evaluation occurs after the end of the April term.

Any student who does not meet Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements will be notified by the Financial Aid office via e-mail. If you have been notified that you are SAP ineligible for financial aid, please contact our Office of Student Services for assistance.

Failure to Maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress

There is no Financial Aid SAP warning period for graduate students who are evaluated annually. If you do not meet GPA or pace of progression standards, or if you exceed the maximum unit allowance, you will be ineligible for financial aid unless you have an approved, written SAP appeal.

If you are academically disqualified from the university, you will be ineligible for further financial aid unless you are readmitted to the university and have an approved, written SAP appeal.

If you are on financial SAP probation and do not meet the terms of your SAP contract you will be ineligible for financial aid without a second written and approved SAP appeal.

Regaining Financial Aid Eligibility

Regaining Financial Aid Eligibility with a Grade Change

If you have lost financial aid eligibility due to an insufficient GPA or pace of progression, your eligibility can be reinstated with a grade change, if the grade change allows you to complete sufficient units and/or improve your GPA to meet the requirements. Notify the Office of Student Services in writing once the grade has been changed and requirements have been met.

Regaining Financial Aid Eligibility with a SAP appeal for GPA, Pace of Progression & Maximum Time-Frame

If you are not meeting Satisfactory Academic Progress, you may appeal to have your financial aid eligibility reinstated on a probationary basis. The following conditions can be considered in your appeal: extended illness, one-time extenuating circumstances that have since been resolved, etc.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Appeals

Meet with the Office of Student Services to complete a Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) appeal form. Submit it with any supporting documentation to the Office of Student Services. The SAP appeal form must contain the specific academic plan that the Office of Student Services has approved for you. For the appeal to be approved, the academic plan must lead to graduation within 150% of the published degree time. You must also provide a written appeal letter that includes the following information/explanation: (a) What caused your work to fall below acceptable standards? (b) How have those conflicts been resolved? (c) How will you maintain good academic standards and progress toward the degree if the appeal is granted.

Your SAP Appeal will be evaluated by the Director of Student Services and the Director of Financial Aid. You will be notified of the decision via e-mail.

The Financial Aid SAP Probation Period & Contract

If your appeal regarding insufficient pace of progression and/or GPA is approved, you will be placed on a term-by-term SAP Contract. During this time, you will remain eligible for financial aid on a probationary basis, strictly per the terms of the contract. The Office of Financial Aid will review your academic progress each term to ensure you have met the specific terms of your contract.

Acceptance of the approved SAP Contract supersedes all other SAP regulations. Any deviation by the student from the terms of the contract will result in the forfeiture of future financial aid eligibility.

VETERAN'S BENEFITS AND MILITARY TUITION ASSISTANCE

Veteran's Benefits

Claremont Lincoln University is approved by the California Department of Veteran's Affairs (CALVET) for the education of veterans, active duty personnel, reservists, and eligible dependents under current law. Information about veteran's benefits is available at www.gibill.va.gov.

Information on applying for veteran's benefits and enrollment procedures may be obtained from the Department of Veterans Affairs <http://vabenefits.vba.va.gov/vonapp/>. All policies and procedures pertaining to Veteran's Benefits may be found in our Veteran Affairs Information bulletin at <https://www.claremontlincoln.edu/students/>.

Military Tuition Assistance:

Claremont Lincoln University is approved by the U.S. Department of Defense for the education of military students utilizing their Tuition Assistance benefits. Each military branch has its own tuition assistance form and procedures. Please contact your local education center for eligibility information.

DEGREE PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The M.A. degree offers breadth and depth of preparation in a variety of areas within a flexible structure that encourages student initiative and responsibility, supports vocational and intellectual exploration and development, and provides specific milestones for monitoring student progress through the degree. The program may be used to prepare for advanced graduate training in religious and/or theological studies, for various forms of leadership, and for general education and enrichment.

CLAREMONT CORE™

The Claremont Core™ is a proprietary sequence of classes that all Claremont Lincoln students take in common. Students from all M.A. programs will interact with and learn from each other in the courses of Mindfulness, Dialogue, Collaboration, and Change.

MCC5301: Mindfulness (3 units, required)

This course offers students critical understanding of mindfulness practices and ways to develop the capacities of mindful attention necessary for effective change leadership. To that end, the course focuses first and foremost on practice: you will be regularly engaging in practices of self-awareness, mindful reflection, open-presence awareness, concentration, and compassion (for self and others).

MCC5302: Dialogue (3 units, required. Prerequisite: Mindfulness)

Effective dialogue in the 21st century is mindful communication that constructs shared understanding among diverse constituencies. Students will be able to articulate contemporary theories and practices of dialogue. Students will develop the ability to manage contrasting perspectives among diverse constituencies and reframe conflict for shared understanding. By the end of the course, students will be able to demonstrate personal commitment to fostering productive dialogue in interpersonal, professional and public contexts. They also will identify potential dialogue partners for progress toward the Capstone Action Project.

MCC5303: Collaboration (3 units, required. Prerequisite: Dialogue)

Collaboration is co-creative dialogue among key stakeholders to develop strategies for positive change. Students will be able to develop strategies to engage diverse stakeholders effectively and to create conditions for stakeholders to synthesize diverse perspectives. This includes the ability to articulate contemporary understandings of cultural diversity and social privilege that exist in any collaborative effort. By the end of the course, students will be able to manage interpersonal and organizational conflict and lead in a way that leverages intelligence and self-organization. They also will identify and secure commitment from collaborators for their Capstone Action Project.

MCC5304: Change (3 units, required. Prerequisite: Collaboration)

This course engages students in change making, which is effective collaboration that generates positive and sustainable impact in society. Students will be able to integrate capacities from the Claremont Core (mindfulness, dialogue and collaboration) to effectively implement a project that positively affects a social situation. Students will also learn to evaluate the effectiveness of a project and integrate evaluation into program improvement. Students will demonstrate these abilities by designing an action plan for their Capstone Action Project.

M.A. IN ETHICAL LEADERSHIP

The M.A. in Ethical Leadership teaches working professionals about leadership, ethics, and ethical leadership while transforming them into ethical leaders in a diverse, globalized world. You will be led through a unique series of online courses that integrates personal mindfulness, professional awareness, and global consciousness for skillful leadership in any organizational context.

The program begins with a professional assessment and introduces you to leading-edge practices for self-awareness and mindfulness. You then learn about leadership and decision-making from various ethical, economic, philosophical, cultural, religious, humanistic, and contemporary traditions. By the end of the program, you will develop concrete skills—such as collaboration, conflict resolution, communication, and managing in diverse settings—for putting this newfound wisdom to work in your professional context. As a graduate of this program, you will have the knowledge and skills to lead more effectively and influence your workplace in a diverse and changing world.

Program Learning Outcomes:

After completing the Master of Arts in Ethical Leadership, you will be able to:

- Apply awareness of self and the multi-faceted perspectives of others locally and globally.
- Articulate the major theories in ethics, conduct analysis, and recommend ethical action.
- Articulate the major theories and principles of leadership, conduct analysis, and recommend behavioral change strategies.
- Assess the cause of conflict in organizational settings and apply strategies to manage conflict in diverse environments.
- Research, design, develop, and implement a project plan to affect change in an organization.
- Demonstrate the interpersonal and engagement skills necessary for effective leaders in a global community or organization.

Courses

MEL5300: Professional Assessment (3 units, required)

Effective leaders know themselves and their organizations. They know who they are, what they believe, and what they can offer to those around them. In this course, you will participate in self-assessment exercises and engage in readings and dialogue that will help you identify your current leadership skills and how you can apply your strengths and weaknesses as well as practical skills to identify negative behaviors, determine toxicity in organizational settings, analyze the causes, and devise strategies to overcome them. This course offers you the grounding and broad skills necessary to be a more effective and ethical leader.

MEL5302: Ethical Frameworks: From Theory to Practice (3 units, required.)

Our understanding of ethics – the basic systems for determining right and wrong – are often rooted in complex combinations of our personal, cultural, national, familial, and/or religious experiences and traditions. In this course, you will become familiar with major perspectives on ethical reasoning, including questions of character and integrity. You will read selections from classical and contemporary ethicists, examine multiple sources of and approaches to ethical reflection, and put your new knowledge to work in concrete, contemporary case studies. In the end, you will recognize that ethical deliberation is neither reserved for saints nor specialists and is a part of daily life and work.

MEL5304: Leadership Literacy: From Theory to Practice (3 units, required.)

Leadership is an ever-evolving field of study and practice that has taken on added complexity in the diversified workplace of the 21st century. In this course, you will survey contemporary research and literature in the field that introduces foundational concepts that address leadership development in a global era. You will examine the notion of leadership as an adaptive art, as a frame for professional proficiency, and as a platform for personal and organizational transformation. In the end, you will come to appreciate leadership as the effective and ethical management of positive change.

MEL5305: Ethics and Globalization (3 units, required)

We no longer make workplace decisions in a vacuum. In a truly globalized era, the actions of our organizations have ripple effects that cross borders and reach around the world. In this class, you will focus on the role of ethical leadership in a diverse, interconnected economy. Building on previous courses, this course connects your personal values to the ethical perspectives of different regional, cultural, and national contexts. It draws on various philosophical and wisdom traditions to develop a balanced and responsible organizational ethics. And looking forward to subsequent courses, it considers the role of ethics in global change, global leadership skills, and issues of conflict, commodities, resources and labor.

MEL5307: Shadow Sides: Power, Money and Meaning (3 units, required)

Money was invented as a tool for exchange of goods and services, and it's become both a compelling and corrupting force among humans. But while money can buy many things, it cannot buy everything – and in some cases it costs more than its worth. In this course, you will explore how capital and other forms of power works in the world and how it can be or should be managed to achieve strategic, sociopolitical or ethical ends. You will develop a vision for how capital can be leveraged in organizations as a resource for positive change toward more sustainable models of business and society. You will also be introduced to leading-edge approaches to social entrepreneurship, social business, and organizing for social change in the for-profit and the not-for-profit sectors.

MEL5306: Capstone Action Project (3 units, required. Final term registration only)

As the final and culminating course in a student's degree program, and an item in each student's portfolio, the Capstone Action Project (CAP) provides learners the opportunity to demonstrate the integration of the program and institutional learning outcomes through a hands-on project in their professional capacity. The planning for this course begins at the program's outset, continues through the evolution of learning, and culminates with the student being fully prepared to implement their project during the CAP course. The specific content in the Ethical Leadership program provides students depth in a particular area of leadership and practice for leading more effectively toward positive change. Facilitated by what has been mastered in the Claremont Core, and in their contexts of personal and professional engagement, learners integrate their knowledge, skills, and abilities to demonstrate how they learned to be more effective leaders for compassionate, effective change.

Course Plan for Full-time Enrollment

All courses will be taught in 10-week terms, completely online. The degree can be completed in 15 months.

M.A. IN INTERFAITH ACTION

In an era characterized by religious pluralism and ideological polarization, the M.A. in Interfaith Action is intended for leaders in faith-based organizations, religious communities, and other public arenas in which religious multiplicity can simultaneously be a source of conflict and a rich resource for positive change. The degree will equip such leaders for deeper understanding and more effective engagement for individual transformation, effective organizational leadership and positive social change.

Program Learning Outcomes:

After completing the Master of Arts in Interfaith Action you will be able to:

- Explore and interpret religion in relation to structures of power and privilege and in the context of cultural, political, and economic histories.
- Demonstrate an integrated knowledge of research and construct an evolving literacy of major religious traditions and cultural identities.
- Appraise the function of religio-cultural identities and apply strategies to resolve moral-based conflicts in a way that is non-defensive, confident, and respectful.
- Research, collaborate, design, and implement high-impact strategies in a leadership action plan for social change
- Analyze and interrogate normative and popular categories of religion while developing a post-secular awareness to interpret the evolving role of religious and secular traditions in the public sphere.
- Demonstrate the interpersonal and engagement skills necessary for effective leaders in a global community or organization.

Courses

MIA5301: Power and Privilege in Self and Society (3 units, required)

Personal, organizational and social transformation occurs along cultural landscapes where core ideals are contested, provoking acts of power and privilege. To be effective in arenas of religious diversity and social change, leaders must have advanced understandings of their own contexts of power and privilege and how to lead effectively given these dynamics. In this course, you will engage contemporary theories of power and privilege in a postcolonial age, be able to identify multiple dimensions of these phenomena in interpersonal and social contexts, and demonstrate capacities for self-awareness and effective negotiation of power differentials in communal and/or organizational contexts.

MIA5302: Approaching Religion (3 units, required)

Establishing an in-depth understanding of religion is essential to defining points of similarity and pluralism in society. This course will assist students in establishing a critical and contextualized understandings of religion, demonstrate an integrated knowledge of research for understanding religion and models for religious engagement, and develop your ability to challenge philosophical assumptions about religion.

MIA5303: Negotiating Moral Conflict (3 units, required)

As new conflicts of an intractable nature develop, you will need a set of inter-disciplinary skills to identify and dismantle moral-based conflicts. In this course, you will acquire subject-specific knowledge of theories and concepts related to social constructionism, cultural competence, conflict resolution, and their application to global, regional and local contexts. Several contemporary developments will be addressed as case studies during the term. These cases will help to sharpen your conflict resolution skills to assess conflict scenarios, develop robust mediation strategies, and design a collaborative peace plan.

MIA5304: Interfaith Leadership in a Global Context (3 units, required)

The Interfaith Leader is a transformative action-oriented figure who is able to identify a social problem and craft a vision that incorporates key opinion-formers to respond to an issue. Transformative leadership is a skill that requires a nuanced understanding of social phenomena, self-awareness, and an interdisciplinary skill-set to implement culturally competence measures to lead diverse teams. You should come to this course prepared to engage in interfaith leadership in theoretical and practical ways that includes taking on specific leadership challenges while receiving the intellectual orientation, knowledge, tools, and resources to help maximize your response to local and international issues. This course explores the impact of transformative leadership through the work of celebrated interfaith leaders and their response to practicing the Golden Rule, promoting social justice, grassroots organizing, and interfaith cooperation within multiple contexts.

MIA5305: Religion in the Public Sphere: Faith, Politics & Rhetoric (3 units, required)

In religiously plural societies, the ability to engage and communicate fairly across sacred-secular lines is a core skill that social change agents need in the twenty-first century. This course explores the complexities of secularism and religion and its intersection with political systems, social values, and sub-movements in the public sphere. In this course, you will develop a post-secular awareness to interpret the evolving role of sacred and secular traditions while identifying new measures to foster collaborative relations between actors in the public sphere.

MIA5306: Capstone Action Project (3 units, required. Final term registration only)

As the final and culminating course in a student's degree program, and an item in each student's portfolio, the Capstone Action Project (CAP) provides learners the opportunity to demonstrate the integration of the program and institutional learning outcomes through a hands-on project in their professional capacity. M.A. IN SOCIAL IMPACT

The M.A. in Social Impact teaches the capacities needed for mindful leaders—particularly, though not exclusively in the social and civic sectors—to envision, implement, and adapt efforts that generate positive and sustainable impact within and/or beyond their organizations and communities. It is intended for those emerging leaders with entrepreneurial spirits seeking the skills and perspectives to be intrapreneurs in their organizations and change-agents in their communities, or catalysts for new social endeavors.

Program Learning Outcomes:

After completing the Master of Arts in Social Impact you will be able to:

- Function as mindful humanistic change agents and empathetic leaders skilled and knowledgeable about how to catalyze and sustain changes in social systems.
- Synthesize the history, heritage, and context of social change and innovation for application to current world problems.
- Develop resourcing strategies built on current market principles and procedures.
- Research, analyze, and determine appropriate methods and contemporary strategies for designing and implementing initiatives that generate positive social impact.
- Develop and employ evaluation and learning approaches to gain visibility on and adapt efforts for systems change and social innovation.
- Develop and demonstrate the interpersonal and engagement skills necessary for effective leaders in a global community or organization.

MSI5301: Human Development for Social Leadership (3 units, required)

Social change begins with the development and transformation of individuals. This class offers an in-depth understanding of the role of leadership in the social sector, including models, strategies and practices that the student can adopt and apply in their day-to-day practice of leading social impact work. The course addresses a shift in the paradigm of change leadership that recognizes that leaders are more effective when they stand within, not beyond, the system they are working to impact. Using this as a basis, the class explores theories and models of human development and their application to one's own leadership style and ways of working with teams, organizations and communities.

MSI5302: Foundations of Social Impact (3 units, required)

Understanding the history and context of social impact innovation provides context for future action. In this course, you will examine the history and heritage of social change in global context and analyze social issues to find points of leverage to participate effectively in change-making and determine where you might choose to engage. You will also research, analyze, and synthesize philosophies of social change, leadership styles and competencies, and articulate your own. By the end of the course, you will better understand where you fit into the historical and current landscape of social change and consider the ways in which you will engage.

MSI5304: Action Design for Change (3 units, required)

Action learning is an approach to social engagement that asks participants to evaluate results and improve on future performance. In this course, you will define and facilitate shared vision and values for intended impact, demonstrate understanding of diverse approaches to defining and measuring success in social impact, construct models for change, and articulate assumptions underlying intended actions. This course also provides practice with needs assessment; generation of organizational models; familiarity with design thinking and service design; and strategies for collaborative, emergent, and adaptive change.

MSI5305: Resource Models for Social Impact (3 units, required)

Generating sustainable social impact requires the ability to identify and secure financial, social and human resources. In this course you will explore contemporary financing frameworks, relevant regulatory environments in which social impact enterprises often operate, and good governance for organizational effectiveness. This course is designed for students with particular interest in social enterprise/hybrid organizations, though students working in any organization focused on the social good will benefit. By the end of the class, you will gain an advanced knowledge of resource management and allocation and be able to design sustainable resource models for successful social engagement.

MSI5307: Storytelling and Marketing for Change (3 units, required)

Narrative representation is increasingly seen as an effective means of effective leadership, organizational effectiveness and situational understanding. In this course, you will gain advanced knowledge of contemporary narrative theory and the possible roles of storytelling for interpretation and presentation of data, sense-making within an organization, and advancement of an organization with external constituencies. By the end of the course, you will understand and be able to frame data and complex perspectives in narrative form and employ a variety of methods – including contemporary technologies – for effective storytelling.

ACADEMIC CERTIFICATES

Academic certificates provide graduate credits that are evidenced on a Claremont Lincoln University transcript and those courses may be transferable to other institutions of higher learning for credit. Students seeking to receive transfer credit should consult any other institution where they wish to transfer. Any certificate at CLU that carries academic credit is detailed fully in the sections below.

Some credits taken in an academic certificate may be applied to an M.A. program if the student later becomes a degree-seeking CLU student. Students should consult the Dean of the program of interest for approval.

Students enrolled in academic certificates are bound by the same rules and academic standards as degree-seeking students. Any exceptions or additional requirements are outlined for each certificate.

Students enrolled in an academic certificate do not qualify for Financial Aid from CLU.

RELIGION & PUBLIC LIFE

Claremont Lincoln University has partnered with the Religious Freedom Center of the Newseum Institute to offer 4 courses leading to a Certificate in Religion & Public Life. These courses are designed to equip civic and religious leaders to become constitutional and human rights specialists on issues of religion and public life. The online experience is supplemented with a three-day immersion in Washington, D.C., with national experts and faculty. All courses in this certificate award academic credit from Claremont Lincoln University. These courses may be taken individually or as a pathway to obtaining the academic certificate. To be awarded the Certificate in Religion & Public Life, all 4 courses must be successfully completed. Each course is 14 weeks in length allowing the certificate to be completed in two years. Certificate completion time may vary based upon a student's enrollment choices.

Eligibility Criteria

To be considered for admission to the Certificate in Religion & Public Life, prospective students must demonstrate the following requirements:

Bachelor's degree: Completion of a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution by the time the first course begins.

English language fluency: Fluency in the English language and the ability to read and write at the Master's degree level.

Travel: The three-day onsite educational conference in Washington, D.C. in the fall and spring are required immersion components to the certificate. All students are expected to pay for their own travel and lodging arrangements. International students may only be eligible to complete the certificate with Claremont Lincoln University under limited circumstances.

Application Process and Materials

Individuals apply for admission to the certificate by submitting the online application as well as:

- A resume/CV that includes a chronology of educational, professional, and volunteer experiences
- Contact information of three references (academic and/or professional)
- A clear, color headshot to be included in the student directory
- Unofficial or official undergraduate transcript(s)

The University does not retain application materials beyond three years and requires new materials from applicants who exceed that timeframe. Please be aware that all application materials become the property of the Religious Freedom Center of the Newseum Institute and Claremont Lincoln University and will not be returned to the applicant nor released to a third party.

Credit Hours

Courses in this certificate award 3 graduate credits per course from Claremont Lincoln University. Certificate courses adhere to the CLU Credit Hour Policy and the weekly time commitment is 8-10 hours for each class.

Calendar

Courses in the Religion & Public Life certificate follow a 14 week term with a 3 day onsite requirement. Refer to the dates below.

Courses

REL100: Foundations of Religious Freedom in the United States (3 units)

The first course explores the meaning and significance of the religious liberty principles of the First Amendment from our nation’s colonial and founding periods to the mid-20th century. Using primary source material, participants study the roots of religious freedom in colonial America, with special attention given to the Puritan Commonwealth in the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the radical experiment of “no establishment” and “free exercise” in Rhode Island. Despite the commitment to religious freedom on the federal level and in state constitutions, the United States remained a semi-established Protestant nation in the 19th and early 20th centuries. Protestants played a central role in movements for social reform and the establishment of educational institutions, including the common schools. At the same time, the 19th century in America was an era of virulent anti-Catholicism and anti-Semitism in the wake of large waves of immigration. In the 20th century, growing religious diversity, secularization of society and the application of the First Amendment to the states through the 14th Amendment in the 1940s set the stage for U.S. Supreme Court rulings that have more fully separated church from state and redefined the free exercise of religion.

REL200: Religious Liberty and Contemporary American Public Life (3 units)

In this blended learning course, emerging and established religious leaders will study the evolution of First Amendment’s religious freedom principles from the 1940s through the civil rights era and into today. Participants will address contemporary issues that concern the constitutional relationship of religion and government, along with current debates over the meaning of the free exercise of religion. Through careful examination of case law and legal briefs, as well as scholarly analysis, artistic expression and individual leaders’ accounts, students will reflect on the roles that religious groups have played in political life, the role of religion in public schools, clashes between civil rights and religious claims, religious accommodations in the workplace, government funding and faith-based social services, and the recent extension of religious exemptions to closely held corporations. Participants will consider how the challenges and opportunities of the “new religious America” can be framed by First Amendment principles to ensure that religious diversity is a source of strength for the country and not a point of weakness, contention or division. This course stresses that religious leadership in the United States requires a careful understanding of how current laws address basic questions regarding religious expression and practice in public life—questions religious leaders and their communities confront almost daily. The purpose of this course is to introduce a diverse group of students to the challenges that religious and secular leaders face in contemporary America in their attempts to advance religious freedom through the principles of free exercise and non-establishment. Students will gain a firm grounding in the legal doctrine of the First Amendment and will also have the opportunity to dig deeper into many specific areas of interests.

REL300: Religion and News Media (3 credits)

Effective religious leaders in a pluralistic democracy must have the knowledge and skills to accurately represent their religious tradition and the religions of their neighbors to the media as well as through the use of new media. For better or for worse, the media shapes the public’s understanding of religion in 21st-century America. The course begins with an exploration of the complex interaction between religion and media in the history of the United States, with special attention to the civic and legal frameworks provided by the guarantees of free speech, freedom of the press and religious freedom under the First Amendment. Participants examine the many ways in which the media currently reports religion news, interprets the role of religion in public life and portrays the beliefs and practices of religious individuals and groups. Students also investigate how religious communities use media technology to proclaim their beliefs (and the beliefs of others) to both their adherents and the broader public. Through case studies, participants investigate issues and controversies involving media and religion in the public sector. Participants explore best practices for creating a religiously literate society by examining how religious communities educate the public about their own religion and the beliefs and practices of other coreligionists. Special attention will be given to best practices for using media to combat negative stereotyping, stigmatization and discrimination.

REL400: The Human Right to Freedom of Religion or Belief (3 credits)

Denial of the human right to freedom of religion or belief is a leading cause of repression, division and conflict across the globe. More than three quarters of the world’s population lives in countries with high levels of restrictions on religious people; these restrictions result in increases in social hostilities and violence. This course explores the complex issues related to freedom of expression, religious practice and treatment of minority religions in various regions of the world. Addressing these issues will require informed dialogue on religious freedom as a universal right; support for international and regional efforts to ensure full respect for the right to religion or belief; and identification, sharing and strengthening of good rule of law practices relating to religion or belief at the national and international levels. Based on historical and contemporary examples, the international case studies presented in this class will illustrate both the challenges of the right to freedom of religion or belief and the opportunity that rule of law strategies provide to help meet those challenges. Students will examine best practices for ensuring that public policies and laws align fully with international human rights standards. The course is designed to promote cross-cultural and interfaith understanding, thus contributing to an ongoing dialogue both between and within nations about the importance of the rule of law for promoting and protecting the human right to freedom of religion or belief.

POLICY STATEMENTS

Student Records and The Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, also known as the Buckley Amendment, (a) establishes a postsecondary student's general right to inspect and review his or her education records, and (b) generally prohibits outside parties from obtaining the information contained in such records without the student's written consent.

Confidential Student Records: Confidential information is information accumulated in confidence, within limits established by law either upon specific promise of non-disclosure or in the context of a confidential relationship. The law provides that the following items may be included in this category: personal records and notes of administrative officers and faculty; medical and mental health records; financial information from parents of students; letters of recommendation for which a student has waived right of access; confidential letters of recommendation placed in the record prior to January 1, 1975. Items in the category of "confidential information" will not be released to the student; they may be released to non-authorized University personnel or persons outside of the University only with the written consent of the student and the Administrator who is in charge of the record, except as required by law. Medical and mental health records may be reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student's choice, as approved in writing by the student.

Restricted Student Information: This category contains the educational records of the student, that is, those records not included in the two categories above that contain information directly related to the student and are maintained by the Registrar. Included, for example, are the transcript, courses elected each semester, grades and other evaluations, academic and disciplinary actions, financial arrangements, and letters of recommendation received in the student's record after January 1, 1975 (unless the student has waived the right of access to those letters). With the exceptions noted in "Exceptions to Restrictions on Release of Information," restricted information may be released only at the student's specific written request, which must name the records to be released, the reasons for release, and the persons to whom the release is authorized.

Exceptions to Restrictions on Release of Information: The law authorizes the release of restricted information without the student's written consent as follows: to school officers and faculty with legitimate educational interest; to individuals and offices as needed in connection with a student's financial aid; to parents of dependent students; to accrediting organizations; to individuals as needed in an emergency situation to protect health and safety; and to selected research workers with stated precautions as to confidentiality. Information may be released to officers of institutions to which the student is applying for admission if the student is notified that it is being sent and is given an opportunity to review it. The student must also be notified before information is furnished in compliance with a judicial order or subpoena. Except as specified above, release to federal, state, or local officials is limited to information relating to audit or evaluation of federally-- supported education programs. Where the student has signed the appropriate consent form, the evaluation written by the student's Field Education Teaching Pastor (or Supervising Mentor) may be released to church or denominational judicatory officials upon request of those officials.

Directory Information: The law also provides that information known to be generally available from a variety of sources may be included in the University's directory information: name, university email address, and student photograph. Through publication of directory information, the University will make public without student consent only the information listed above. A student who prefers that some or all of such Directory Information not be made public must notify the Office of Student Services in writing.

Students' Waiver of Access to Confidential Records: A student requesting recommendations in respect to admission to an educational institution or an application for employment or the receipt of an honor may waive his or her right of access to these recommendations. Any student requesting a letter of recommendation may be asked to indicate to the writer whether s/he has waived right of access. The decision whether to write a letter of recommendation is an individual and voluntary one. Faculty and students, however, should be familiar with the provision in the law, which states that "waivers may not be required as a condition for admission to, receipt of financial aid from, or receipt of any other services or benefits from such institution."

Students' Right to Inspect Their Records: Within the limits of the law, students may inspect information contained in their restricted records. By law, students may not inspect those materials in their confidential records.

Exceptions to Students' Right to Inspect Their Records: If any material or document in the educational record of a student includes information on other students, the University will not supply the actual material or document. Instead, the University will provide only the specific information contained therein which directly relates to the student seeking access.

Procedures for Students' Inspection of Their Records: The procedure by which students and former students may review their restricted records is as follows:
The student gives a 24 hour written request for such a review to the Dean.
The Dean reviews the file in order to place in sealed envelopes marked either "Confidential information to be opened only by the Dean" or "Restricted information to be opened only by the Dean" any material described under "Confidential Students Records" or "Restricted Student Information."

The student may then review his or her file in the University Office. In no case will access be withheld more than 45 days after proper request has been made. If the student wishes, the University will also supply copies of material in the file. The student will pay for the cost of this copying.

Student Challenge of the Content of Record: A student who questions the content of his or her record should indicate this to the Dean. If the question is not satisfactorily settled, the Dean will be requested to establish an appropriate committee, which will hold a hearing at which the student may present evidence in support of the contention that the record contains inaccurate or misleading information.

Retention and Disposal of School Records: Records fall into two retention categories: permanent and limited. Permanent Retention Records are those records that the University is obligated to maintain permanently either directly by law or indirectly by the need of supporting documentation. These records are to be maintained in hard copy (in fireproof cabinets) and on microfiche or appropriate electronic format.

Permanent records include the following:

- Claremont Lincoln University transcripts
- Class lists
- Grade reports
- Change of Grade forms
- Enrollment reports
- Course schedules and addenda
- Degree statistics (lists of approved graduates and their degrees, dates of conferral, type, etc.)
- Catalogs / Academic bulletins

Limited Retention Records are those records, which the University is obligated, either directly by law or indirectly by the need for supporting documentation, to maintain on a limited basis. The length of time each type of document is to be retained is indicated.

- Admissions Documents, to be maintained separately in alphabetical order:
 - Files of those who applied but did not attend (either because they were denied admission or because they rejected our offer of admission): three years.
 - Incomplete admission files: three years.
 - Files of those who were admitted and then either withdrew the first semester or did not attend at all: five years.
- Registration Records and Certification Documents, to be maintained separately in alphabetical order:
 - Files of those who were admitted and attended classes for at least one semester (including those who complete programs and graduate and those who withdrew or are terminated at any point after one semester): five years from date of departure.

Copyright Policy

It is the policy of Claremont Lincoln University to uphold and comply with the U.S. Copyright Act. Copyright is a special protection, granted by law, for original works of authorship that exist in a fixed, tangible form, whether published or unpublished, including books, textbooks, journals, articles, songs, videos, games, software, and other creative content. The Copyright Act gives copyright owners specific exclusive rights (namely the rights to make copies, distribute the work, display or perform the work publicly and to create derivative works). Unauthorized copying or unauthorized distribution of copyrighted material is a violation of the U.S. Copyright Act. Claremont Lincoln University requires all faculty, students and staff to honor copyright and not copy or share protected materials in any way that would violate the law. Consistent with this law, Claremont Lincoln University policy prohibits the unauthorized copying or unauthorized distribution of copyrighted works, and prohibits the unauthorized distribution of copyrighted works through peer-to-peer file sharing. This unauthorized use may also violate civil or criminal law. The University's Acceptable Use Policy (AUP) extends this policy to Claremont Lincoln University's computing resources and states that all users of the University's network must not use the University's network to engage in any illegal downloading, emailing, or peer-to-peer file sharing of copyrighted works. Claremont Lincoln University is required by law to take steps to prevent illegal copying or distribution, and to respond appropriately to all complaints regarding copyright infringement.

There are certain allowable exceptions for U.S. academic institutions that permit a limited amount of copying without permission, if specific criteria are met. The five exceptions to the exclusive rights of copyright holders are the principle of fair use, the face-to-face teaching exception, the distance learning exception articulated in the TEACH Act, the first-sale doctrine, and the library and archives exception. For more information on these exceptions, see Fair Use of Copyrighted Materials, developed by the University of Texas.

Students, faculty and staff must have permission from the copyright holder, or a determination that "fair use" applies, before files are copied, made available, or shared on networks.

- For the full text of the copyright law, and related laws, read U.S. Copyright Law.
- For a wealth of information about copyright, see the U.S Copyright Office.
- For a clear explanation of copyright law, take the Crash Course in Copyright, developed by the University of Texas.

Peer-to-Peer File Sharing: The Higher Education Opportunity Act requires all U.S. colleges and universities to comply with its new regulations, which deal with issues surrounding the distribution of copyrighted materials, particularly through peer-to-peer file sharing. These new regulations require the University to take four actions: an annual disclosure regarding unauthorized distribution, a plan to combat unauthorized distribution, a disclosure of alternatives to illegal downloading, and a review of the effectiveness of the plan to combat unauthorized distribution. What follows below is the action the University has taken to implement each of these requirements.

Annual Disclosure: The University is required to issue an annual disclosure to all students, informing students that the unauthorized distribution of copyrighted materials may subject students to civil and criminal penalties. The University is also required to disclose the steps it will take to detect and punish copyright infringement.

Annually, during the Fall Semester, the Director of Information Technology will distribute a communication to all students regarding the University's policies on copyright and peer-to-peer file sharing, the steps the University will take to enforce its policies, and the legal penalties for copyright infringement. This communication will also remind all students of our Acceptable Use Policy and the procedures the University will follow in responding to DMCA notices.

Plan to "Effectively Combat" the Unauthorized Distribution of Copyrighted Material by Users of the Claremont Lincoln University Network: The University must certify to the Secretary of Education that it has implemented a plan to effectively combat the distribution of copyrighted materials through its network. Claremont Lincoln University's plan must include the following components:

Community Education and Information: Consistent with the value we place on our educational principles, we view education as the most significant measure we can take to combat illegal file sharing at the University. We use several mechanisms to inform and educate our community regarding copyright and related issues.

The University Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA) and Notification Procedures describe the procedures and disciplinary action that the University will use for handling cases of alleged copyright infringement, illegal downloads, and illegal peer-to-peer file sharing. The University will respond firmly and appropriately to all instances of alleged copyright infringement on its network.

The University's Acceptable Use Policy describes acceptable and unacceptable use of Claremont Lincoln University's computing resources and network.

New Student Orientation on Copyright and Peer-to-Peer File Sharing is a required tutorial for all new students. Included in this tutorial are the techniques students may use for Disabling Peer-to-Peer File Sharing (developed by Indiana University).

New Student Orientation Letter on safe and legal computing will be included in the information packets for new students at the start of each academic term.

Technology-Based Deterrents: The University is required to disclose legal alternatives to unauthorized downloading and illegal file sharing. Educause maintains a comprehensive list of Legal Sources of Online Downloading. Claremont Lincoln University encourages its community to make use of these resources.

The University will review the effectiveness of its Plan to Combat the Unauthorized Distribution of Copyrighted Material by Users of the Network annually. This review will be managed by Claremont Lincoln University. Instances of alleged copyright infringement will be tabulated annually and longitudinally, and this data will be compared with that of peer institutions.

Summary of Civil and Criminal Penalties for Violation of Federal Copyright Laws:

Copyright infringement is the act of exercising, without permission or legal authority, one or more of the exclusive rights granted to the copyright owner under section 106 of the Copyright Act (Title 17 of the United States Code). These rights include the right to reproduce or distribute a copyrighted work. In the file-sharing context, downloading or uploading substantial parts of a copyrighted work without authority constitutes an infringement.

Penalties for copyright infringement include civil and criminal penalties. In general, anyone found liable for civil copyright infringement may be ordered to pay either actual damages or "statutory" damages affixed at not less than $750 and not more than $30,000 per work infringed. For "willful" infringement, a court may award up to $150,000 per work infringed. A court can, in its discretion, also assess costs and attorneys' fees. For details, see Title 17, United States Code, Sections 504, 505.

Willful copyright infringement can also result in criminal penalties, including imprisonment of up to five years and fines of up to $250,000 per offense. For more information, please see the Web site of the U.S. Copyright Office at www.copyright.gov, especially their FAQ's at www.copyright.gov/help/faq.

Digital Millennium Copyright Act Notifications: DMCA (Digital Millennium Copyright Act) Notifications (sometimes called “Takedown Notices”) are formal complaints delivered to the University, giving notice of an alleged copyright infringement on the network. This complaint will typically indicate the name of the file, the date and time this alleged infringement occurred, the specific IP address of the offending computer, and it will demand that the materials and/or access to the materials be removed from the computer. When a DMCA notice is received, the University will respond quickly to remove or disable access to the material for which an infringement has been claimed. Specifically, the University will:

For a first offense:

- Forward the DMCA Notification to the person who is responsible for the computer mentioned in the notice.
- Request that the user contact the Director of Information Technology within 5 days of receiving this notification.
- Ask if the user has downloaded or shared this copyrighted material without permission.

If the user acknowledges unauthorized downloading or sharing, we will:

- Request the user to remove the materials.
- Request that the user disable file sharing of all copyrighted materials on his or her computer.
- Require the user to read the Acceptable Use Policy and Claremont Lincoln University’s information regarding copyright and peer-to-peer file sharing.
- Require the user to submit a written statement that confirms this infringement, acknowledges violation of the Acceptable Use Policy, and promises not to repeat this activity.
- Deny network access to this user for 5 days.
- Inform the claimant that the matter has been resolved.

If the user denies unauthorized downloading or sharing, we will:

- Require the user to submit a written statement denying this copyright infringement claim;
- Inform the claimant that this claim has been denied;
- Inform the user that under the DMCA the claimant may pursue a subpoena to obtain the users identity and may file a lawsuit against this user.

For a second or repeating offense:

- Forward the DMCA Notification to the person who is responsible for the computer mentioned in the notice.

- Request that the user contact the Director of Information Technology within 5 days of receiving this notification.
- Ask if the user has downloaded or shared this copyrighted material without permission.

If the user acknowledges unauthorized downloading or sharing, we will:

- Request the user to remove the materials for his or her computer.
- Request that the user disable file sharing of all copyrighted materials on his or her computer.
- Require the user to re-read the Acceptable Use Policy and the University's information regarding copyright and peer-to-peer file sharing.
- Require the user to submit a written statement that confirms this second alleged case of infringement, acknowledges violation of the Acceptable Use Policy, promises not to repeat this activity, and recognizes that any further violations will result in disciplinary action being taken against the user.
- Deny network access to the user for 5 days.
- Inform the Academic Leadership Team of actions taken.
- Inform that claimant that the matter has been resolved.

Technology Acceptable Use Policy: In support of its mission to instill students with ethical integrity, religious intelligence and intercultural understanding, Claremont Lincoln University provides access to its technological resources to its employees, students and other authorized users. These resources include electronic media and services, computers, email, telephones, voicemail, fax machines, computing, and telecommunications networks, software, databases, intranet, Internet and the World Wide Web. The purpose of these resources is to strengthen the various research, teaching, learning, and administrative functions that fulfill the University's mission.

The University encourages innovative use of technology in the pursuit of educational excellence, as well as effective and efficient use of technology throughout all academic and administrative departments. But all users must bear in mind that these electronic resources (including software, hardware, network equipment and capability) and all data stored in the University's facilities are the property of the institution, and that the use of these resources is a revocable privilege, and not a right of employment or matriculation. All use of these resources must be responsible and lawful, and in compliance with institutional policies.

One of the main characteristics of the University's computing systems is that they are shared resources. There are many computing activities that can occur on a network which interfere with, or undermine the work of others. Some of these activities may be illegal and malicious, while others may be merely accidental or uninformed. The following policy defines user responsibilities, acceptable use, unacceptable use and its consequences. It is applicable to all users of these systems: students, faculty, staff, and administrators of the University and its affiliated centers.

User Responsibilities: The use of technology at the University a privilege, and all users must act responsibly. Users must:

- Respect the rights of other users of the University's networks,
- Respect the integrity of these computer systems, and observe relevant laws,
- Become familiar with, and abide by, all applicable institutional policies, and
- Practice responsible computing (such as backing up data, protecting against the intrusion of computer viruses, safeguarding passwords and network security, and taking reasonable steps to minimize the influx of spam).

Acceptable Use: Acceptable use includes, but is not limited to:

- Electronic communication that is used for the academic and business purposes of the institution.
- The use of computing and networked resources for faculty and institutional research, classroom teaching, student learning, publishing, and accessing Library resources.
- The use of technology to help fulfill the business functions of the institution and its affiliated centers.
- Approved use of University web sites for public education, institutional promotion and fundraising, and to encourage research.
- Using online databases to retrieve relevant information for academic, administrative, or professional use.
- Because these computers, technology services, and telecommunication networks are primarily for the academic and research use of students and faculty, and for the administrative use of employees, limited, occasional, and incidental use for personal or non-business use is permitted. However, such use must be done in a manner that does not interfere with the user's employment, the proper functioning of equipment, or the proper functioning of a department or other institutional obligations, and in a manner that does not incur additional costs for the institution.

Unacceptable Use: Unacceptable use includes, but is not limited to:

1. Unacceptable Electronic Communication

- The use of electronic communications (such as email, messaging, chat rooms, electronic discussion groups, newsgroups, listservs, and social networking tools) to knowingly transmit messages or materials that are discriminatory or harassing, intimidating, derogatory, obscene, defamatory or threatening, libelous, slanderous, fraudulent, or that use vulgar or abusive language.
- Forging electronic messages, or transmitting disinformation.

- Transmitting unauthorized bulk mail, mass email, junk email, sending or forwarding chain email, sending excessive messages, or any transmissions that consume substantial computing resources or bandwidth.
- Unauthorized interrupting or monitoring of electronic communications.
- Communicating in ways that imply institutional endorsement, unless authorized to do so.
- Any use of University computers, networks, or web sites for personal advertisements, solicitations, promotions, personal gain, business ventures, or private profit.

2. Unacceptable Computer Use that Undermines System Integrity

- Modifying, damaging, removing, or stealing computing resources, equipment, software, cables, networks, or furniture that is owned by the University. (Calif. Penal Code § 502.)
- Any attempt to intercept, monitor, tamper with, read, copy, alter, or delete a file or program belonging to another person or office, without authorization of the owner.
- Any connectivity to a network that poses safety or electrical hazards.
- Knowingly performing any activity that interferes with the normal operations of any computers, components or networks.
- Using services or computer systems or the Internet in such a way as to cause network congestion.
- Deliberately wasting computing resources.
- Developing, installing, transmitting, delivering or running any program that is intended to cause damage to a computer system, or place a heavy load on a computer or network (including computer viruses, Trojan horses, worms, and other malware).
- Installing unauthorized software or equipment on University-owned computers.

3. Unacceptable Access

- Using a computer account that is assigned to someone else.
- Disclosing one's assigned password to another person, without authorization.
- Obtaining a password for an account without authorization.
- Using the Claremont Lincoln University's networks to gain unauthorized access to any campus system, program, database, or file.
- Any attempt to circumvent security and data protection schemes, or to discover security loopholes, or decrypt secure data
- Masking the identity of an account, a computer, or a transaction.
- Unauthorized breaching, probing, testing, or monitoring computer or network security.
- Use of campus computing resources by any user younger than 18 years of age.

4. Use that Disrupts or Disrespects Others

- Any use that does not respect the rights and needs of others.
- Violating the privacy of other users
- Disseminating confidential personnel or student information without authorization, or distributing proprietary financial information.
- Any activity that creates a hostile study or working environment, including sexual harassment.

5. Violations of Copyrights, Contractual Agreements, and Licenses

- Distributing or making copies of software, unless permitted by copyright law or software license agreements.
- Distributing or making copies of documents, works of art or other intellectual property, unless permitted by copyright law.
- Using peer-to-peer file sharing protocols or programs to download or distribute unauthorized copies of copyrighted materials.
- Having more simultaneous users (e.g., in a department) than permitted by software license agreements.
- Using copyrighted material without proper attribution.
- Violating terms of software license agreements, or copyright laws.

Additional Use Policies: Users must also comply with additional applicable computer and network use policies.

Warnings:

- Though the University does not routinely monitor and evaluate every electronic transaction, document, file, or communication, it reserves the right to monitor access and use of its computing and networking resources to insure the security and optimal performance of its network, to enforce its policies, to investigate possible violations of its policies, or to comply with civil authority. The University's IT staff have the right to examine systems and files that might be damaged or corrupt, as well as files associated with suspended computer accounts.
- The University reserves the right to limit or curtail access and computing privileges when state or federal laws or institutional policies are being violated.
- Though the University may authorize confidential passwords and secured access to resources, users of the network and systems have no expectation or guarantee of privacy in any communication sent or received over the network, or over the Internet.
- The computing and telecommunication systems log many user transactions: such as telephone numbers dialed, call length, Internet sites visited. The University reserves the right to gather and monitor this data for cost analysis, resource allocation, optimum technical management of information resources, troubleshooting computer problems or compromises in network security, detecting patterns of use that might indicate unacceptable use of the system, and investigating allegations of unacceptable use.

- The University is not responsible for lost or corrupted personal files or data, or for any financial loss as a result of personal information that a user discloses across a network (such as a credit card number).
- The University does not assume any responsibility for the content a user may discover on the Internet, newsgroups, or other online services. Some of this content may be objectionable, offensive, inaccurate, or dated. The University also does not endorse any content that may be accessible through its computer networks and services.

Consequences of Unacceptable Use: Consequences of unacceptable use may include any or all of the following: informal email or conversation when infractions appear to be accidental in nature, verbal warnings, suspension or revocation of access privileges to technological resources (including passwords and email accounts), the suspension or revocation of Library privileges, formal disciplinary action as authorized by institutional policies (up to, and including, suspension or termination from employment, or, in the case of students, dismissal), and, in cases when law has been allegedly violated, referral for criminal or civil prosecution.

Reproduction or distribution of copyrighted works, including images, text, and software, without permission of the owner is a violation of U.S. Copyright Law, and is subject to civil damages and criminal penalties.

Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action Policy

Claremont Lincoln University is an Equal Employment Opportunity employer and is committed to the principal of Affirmative Action and non-discrimination. It is the University's policy to provide Equal Employment Opportunity to all employees and applicants in actions of recruitment, selection, training, promotion, transfers, compensation, benefits and all other terms and conditions of employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, national origin, ancestry, age, physical or mental disability, veteran status, or any other basis prohibited under law. The President of the University and all administrative, management and supervisory personnel are committed to this policy and its enforcement. Reasonable accommodations will be made for qualified individuals with disabilities, including those with known physical or mental limitations, unless undue hardship to the University would result.

The University makes employment decisions based on individual merit, qualifications and competence in all its human resources actions. It seeks to hire or promote the best candidates for the job and to expand its workforce to include greater numbers of women, members of minority groups, disabled persons and military veterans. The University believes that the applicable laws ensuring equal employment opportunities reinforce this policy of diverse employment.

Policy on Harassment, including Sexual Harassment

The University is committed to providing an educational environment free of unlawful harassment, discrimination, sexual intimidation, hostility, and coercion. Harassing behavior toward others may be offensive, demeaning, or disruptive to relationships and constitute a hostile environment. University policy prohibits unwelcome harassment based on race, color, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, national origin, ancestry, age, physical or mental disability, or any other basis protected by federal, state or local law or regulation. A specific kind of violation of individual rights is sexual harassment, which can occur in situations where one person has power over another, but can also occur between equals. Sexual harassment violates the individual's right to a safe environment.

The anti-harassment policy of the University applies to all persons involved in the operation of the University including faculty, staff, work supervisors, and students.

Prohibited harassment includes, but is not limited to, the following behaviors:

- Any unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other unwelcome written, verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature
- Submission to such conduct is made, explicitly or implicitly, a term or condition of an individual's grade, advancement, or employment
- Submission to, or rejection of, such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for academic decisions or employment affecting such individuals
- Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's academic performance or other work, or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment
- Verbal conduct such as epithets, derogatory jokes or comments, slurs or unwanted sexual advances, invitations or comments are used
- Visual conduct such as derogatory or sexually-oriented posters, photography, cartoons, drawing or gestures are used
- Threats and demands to submit to sexual requests as a condition of a grade, continued employment, or to avoid some other loss, and offers of grades, employment, or other benefits in return for sexual favors;
- Retaliation for having reported or threatened to report harassment.

A student who believes s/he has been harassed or subjected to any form of unlawful discrimination should promptly report the facts of the incident or incidents and the names of the individuals involved to the office of one of the following: a Dean, Director of Student Services, or Director of Human Resources.

Whistleblower Policy

All University employees have a responsibility not only to follow all the University rules and regulations, but also have a positive duty to report to the University management any information known to them concerning an actual or potential violation the University's policies and/or applicable state and federal laws, in accordance with the Whistleblower Policy.

The University is committed to complying with all state and federal requirements, and, in compliance with the California Whistleblower Protection Act, the University has provided the following guidance with regard to reporting actual or suspected violations.

Filing a Report or Reporting a Violation: The University encourages all employees including faculty, full- and part-time workers, students, and volunteers, based on good faith, to report suspected violations of University policy and applicable state and federal laws, or the misuse of public resources.

Violations are preferably reported in writing. They may also be reported orally to:

1. An immediate supervisor.
2. The Director of Human Resources or her/his designate. If you feel uncomfortable talking to your supervisor, you are encouraged to take this step. The Director of Human Resources has exclusive responsibility to investigate and resolve all reported violations and take prompt and corrective action.
3. Appropriate law enforcement agencies if either of the previous steps has failed to reasonably correct the matter.

No Retaliation: No employee who in good faith has raised a complaint against any practices of the University shall suffer harassment, retaliation, or adverse employment consequences. An employee who retaliates against someone who has reported a violation in good faith is subject to discipline up to and including termination of employment.

This Whistleblower Policy intends to encourage employees to raise serious concerns with the University before seeking resolution outside of the University. Such reports protect the best interests of the individual employee, as well as the University, and concerns should be made clear whenever possible.

Good Faith Report: Anyone filing a complaint concerning a violation or suspected violation must be acting in good faith based upon reasonable evidence. Any allegations proved to be maliciously or knowingly false will be treated as a serious disciplinary offense.

Drug-Free Campus Policy (Statement Required by 34 CFR Part 86)

Claremont Lincoln University is a drug-free organization. The University believes that illegal drug use by any student or employee, whether or not on the campus, is inappropriate and incompatible with the mission and values of its community members. Pursuant to federal law, each student and employee is hereby notified that the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispersing, possession or use of a controlled substance is prohibited on Claremont Lincoln University premises. Violation of this prohibition may result in the referral of the violator to an appropriate treatment center for drug counseling, rehabilitation, or other assistance, or reporting of the violation to law enforcement authorities for such action as they deem appropriate. Federal law requires Claremont Lincoln University to provide each student and employee a copy of this statement and that each student and employee agrees to (a) abide by the terms of the statement, and (b) notify the University of any criminal drug statute conviction no later than five days after such conviction.

Health Risks Associated with Alcohol-Drug Abuse: Certain health risks are known to be associated with the use of alcohol or controlled substances: (a) There is potential for abuse and (b) abuse of alcohol or controlled substances may lead to physical and/or psychological dependency. For more information concerning the health risks associated with particular drugs or groups of drugs, please refer to Drugs of Abuse, published by the U.S. Department of Justice Drug Enforcement Administration.

Student Code of Conduct

Violation of standards of academic responsibility, integrity and truthfulness are subject to separate disciplinary policies.

Claremont Lincoln University places high value on, and is diligently committed to, the preservation of academic freedom. The basic significance of this commitment lies in the protection of intellectual freedoms: the rights of professors to teach, of scholars to engage in the advancement of knowledge, and of students to learn and to express their views, free from external pressure or interference. These freedoms can flourish only in an atmosphere of mutual trust, honesty, civility, and respect among teachers and students, and only when members of the community are willing to accept self-restraint and reciprocity as the condition upon which they share in its intellectual autonomy. Academic freedom extends to all who share these aims and responsibilities. They cannot be violated by any who would subordinate intellectual freedom to any cause or ideology, or those who violate the norms of conduct established to protect that freedom. Moreover, willful disruption of the academic process simply cannot be tolerated. The University has a right to defend itself against any intrusions on the rights and privileges of the community of scholars and persons at the University.

- Individuals are liable for failure to comply with lawful directions issued by official representatives of the University acting in their official capacities.
- Theft or damage to the University premises or property, or theft of or damage to property of any person on University premises is prohibited. Permission from appropriate University authorities must be obtained for removal, relocation and use of University equipment, supplies, books, papers and research materials. Also, unauthorized use or examination of confidential records is prohibited.
- Forcible interference with the institution's educational process or facilities, or the rights of those who wish to avail themselves of any of the institution's instructional, personal, administrative, recreational, and community services is prohibited. Any sort of abuse, physical, or otherwise, is also prohibited.
- No person may bring or possess firearms or other weapons on the campus.

Any member of the community engaging in any manner of conduct prohibited under Paragraphs 1 to 4 above shall be liable to actions by the University.

Student Grievance Policy

Claremont Lincoln University is committed to treating all students justly and fairly. The University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, marital status, identity, sexual orientation, national origin, disability, medical condition, or veteran status. To this end, Claremont Lincoln University strives to promote and maintain an environment in which students are protected from misconduct by any department or member of the University community.

A student grievance is a complaint arising out of any perceived act or decision by a member of the faculty or staff, or another student at the University, which in any way appears to adversely affect the status, rights, or privileges of any student. Such a grievance must be filed in writing within 30 days of an alleged incident, and the burden of proof rests with person making the complaint.

All conversations and proceedings are strictly confidential and will not be shared with any person or party not involved in or witness to the grievance. The University will not tolerate retaliatory or punitive action against a student who files a grievance.

Grade & Academic Evaluation Dispute Procedure

1. The student should attempt to resolve the grievance informally by discussing the issue with their instructor. If a suitable solution cannot be reached through ordinary means, the student should file a written complaint or appeal detailing the issue to the instructor responsible for the issue.
2. If the grievance is not informally resolved or the student has not received a satisfactory response from the instructor within 10 working days of the date of the complaint or appeal, the student should file a formal complaint or appeal to their Dean. The Dean has 30 calendar days from the date of the formal complaint to resolve the issue.
3. If unresolved, the Dean will inform the Academic Leadership Team (ALT) who will assign a Grievance Sub-committee that includes ALT members (with the exception of the President and affected Dean) to rule on the grievance. The Grievance Sub-committee will present a ruling on the grievance within 30 calendar days of receipt of the complaint by the Dean. The Grievance Sub-committee will inform the student and instructor of ALT's decision.
4. A written appeal of the decision may be submitted (within 10 working days) to the President who will determine whether the procedures of the dispute policy were properly followed. Within 30 calendar days of the receipt of the appeal, the President will issue a decision to the student and Dean. This decision is final and no further appeal is possible.

Services for Students with Disabilities

Claremont Lincoln University is committed to providing educational opportunities and access to persons with disabilities in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Section 504), and applicable local, state and federal antidiscrimination laws.

Request for reasonable accommodations will be considered on an individual basis. Students with documented disabilities are encouraged to contact the Office of Student Services as early as possible in order to alert the institution about disabilities for which they may want to request accommodations. Students must self-declare and have accommodations documented before making any formal request.

Policy for Research with Human Participation

To ensure the ethical treatment of action research participants,

- Student projects may involve adults who work with minors, but may not directly involve minors.
- Project participants must sign a consent form provided by CLU. That form will include (a) contact information for CLU if the participant has any concerns about the project, (b) an explanation that participants may choose to leave a project at any time, for any reason, and (c) a statement that appropriate steps will be taken to protect the identity of participants in the written research report.
- The written report must protect the identity of project participants.
- The written report must not include information that could damage someone's reputation, their financial circumstances, or their ability to be employed.
